12th SUNDAY OF ORDINARY TIME

June 18/19, 2016

Christ asked of Peter "Who do you say I am?" If we take Peter to be a representation of each of us believers, it becomes clear that what Christ wants of us is our own unique affirmation. All of us have our own hearts to give freely away. This is what God seems to cherish most about us. We imagine that our foremost task in life is to make a difference, but the only difference we really make in this world, the only thing we can do that no one else can do, is take ownership of our lives and give them away. We find ourselves only when we learn to love, to believe, to hope. We achieve our being only when we no longer cling to it.
